If you've been following STINGRAY Boats the last few years, it's obvious the company is heavily immersed in the deck boat market. STINGRAY offers several crossover Sport Deck models (in both sterndrive and outboard variations), as well as several full-blown Deck Boat models in various sizes, available in easy-to-maintain outboard power. This past year, windshield versions of the most popular STINGRAY deck boat models were added, giving families the deck boat layout they want with a windshield to separate them from the wind while underway.

With all the current deck boat choices in the lineup, where could STINGRAY possibly go from there?

Fishermen like usable space and many families like to fish, so the next logical step for STINGRAY was to combine deck boat roominess with fishing features and a fishing layout. The result leads us to the introduction of two new center console deck boat models for the 2017 model year. These new models, the 186CC and 206CC Deck Boats, are center console fishing boats and family deck boats rolled into one. The versatility alone makes these boats perfect for families with varied on-the-water interests. There's more though...

For the anglers, a low profile design makes it easy to navigate in low clearance areas, a helm seat for two has an adjustable seat / leaning post for fishing, a clean dash design (that includes both a 12-volt accessory outlet and USB outlet, hidden in the storage cubby) leaves room for a 10-inch fish finder / plotter, the main helm seat lifts to reveal a conveniently located 26-gallon live well, and the forward bench offers an 18-gallon cooler that can be upgraded to a live well. The walk-around access, combined with the large foredeck, makes it easy for anglers to quickly move around the boat. Additionally, two rear seats lift up for seating while underway and quickly fold down for use as casting platforms, or to enter and exit the boat. Fishing rods are easily accessible thanks to abundant rod storage on both sides of the boat. We didn't count the rod holders, but with built-in, recessed storage port and starboard, three rod holders flanking each side of the console, and other rod holders strategically placed around the boat, fishermen will have access to a rod holder within a couple steps of any place on the boat.

For a day out with the family, these boats offer lots of space for maneuvering about, plus seating for up to seven passengers on the 186CC and up to nine passengers on the 206CC. To ensure that none of the deck area is cluttered when headed out for a day on the water, STINGRAY designers effectively made use of all the space on board to incorporate lots of storage areas around the boat. The two rear flip-down seats make it easy for your passengers to enter and exit the boat from either port or starboard.

STINGRAY Boats are known for getting more performance out of less power and for creating a smooth ride, thanks to the exclusive Z-plane hull...and the ride is even better with the current generation deck boats. If you're looking for a versatile boat with a smooth ride for your family that's also a truly functional fishing boat, look no further than the new STINGRAY 186CC and 206CC models. They are already quite popular — STINGRAY dealers are selling them as fast as they can get them in their showrooms!

The 206CC can be upgraded to a taller, larger Deluxe Console, which features an attractive dark panel, two stainless steel cup holders, an LED cockpit light, a flip-up storage panel (that also serves as a footrest), and a 58" tall compartment that can be upgraded with the addition of the porta potti option. Both consoles feature solid, tempered safety glass.
